

Risk Factors

The business, financial condition and results of operations of the Group are subject to various business risks and uncertainties. The factors set out below are those that the Group believes could result in the financial condition of the Group or results of operations differing materially from expected or historical results. There may be other risks in addition to those shown below which are not known to the Group or which may not be material now but could turn out to be material in the future.

Market Economy

The Group operates principally in Hong Kong. As a result, the financial condition of the Group and results of operations may be influenced by the general state of a local market or economy in the region. Any significant or protracted worsening of the present financial and economic climate within Hong Kong and/or other areas, could result in a change to customer spending or usage behaviour, which could have an adverse impact on the business, results of operations and financial performance of the Group.

Highly-competitive Market

The Group faces significant competition. Aggressive tariff plans and customer acquisition strategies adopted by competitors may impact on pricing plans, customer acquisition and retention costs, rate of customer growth and retention prospects - hence, the service revenue the Group receives as a major provider of mobile telecommunications services. Risk of competition from alternative sources of mobile telecommunications services now, or in the future, could materially and adversely affect the financial performance and growth prospects of the Group.

Strategic Partners

The Group conducts some of its businesses through non wholly-owned subsidiaries and joint ventures, in which it shares control (in whole or in part) and has formed strategic alliances with certain leading international companies, government authorities and other strategic partners. There can be no assurance that any of these strategic or business partners will wish to continue their relationships with the Group into the future, or that the Group will be able to pursue its stated strategies with respect to its non-wholly-owned subsidiaries and joint ventures and the markets in which they operate. Furthermore, other investors in the non-wholly-owned subsidiaries and joint ventures of the Group may undergo a change of control or financial difficulties, which may affect the financial condition and results of operations of the Group.

Impact of Regulatory Decisions

The Group is permitted to provide telecommunications services and operate networks only under licences granted by regulatory authorities in individual countries/areas. All these licences have, historically, been issued for fixed terms and subsequently renewed. However, further renewals may not be guaranteed, or the terms and conditions of these licences may be changed when renewed. All these licences contain regulatory requirements and carrier obligations regarding the way the Group must conduct business, and such requirements may cover network quality and coverage. Failure to meet these requirements could result in damage awards, fines, penalties, suspension or other sanctions including, ultimately, revocation of the licences. Decisions by regulators regarding the granting, amendment or renewal of licences held by the Group, or other parties (including spectrum allocation to other parties or relaxation of constraints with respect to the technology or specific service that may be deployed in the given spectrum band), could result in the Group facing unforeseen competition, and could adversely affect the financial condition and results of operations of the Group.

Accounting

The International Accounting Standards Board has issued, and may in the future issue more new and revised standards and interpretations. Such factors may require adoption of new accounting policies. There can be no assurance that the adoption of new accounting policies or new IFRS will not have a significant impact on the financial condition and results of operations of the Group.

Rapid Technological Changes

The global telecommunications industry is characterised by rapid increases in the diversity and sophistication of the technologies and services offered. As a result, the Group may face increasing competition from technologies currently being developed, or which may be developed in the future, by both existing competitors as well as new market entrants. The development and application of new technologies involve time, substantial cost and risk. The technologies employed may become obsolete or be subject to intense competition from new technologies in the future. Impairment of any of assets could adversely affect the financial condition and results of operations of the Group. If the Group fails to develop, or obtain timely access to, new technologies and equipment, or if the Group fails to obtain the necessary licences and spectrum to provide services using these new technologies, the Group may lose customers and market share and become less profitable.

Network Performance

Some elements of networks of the Group, such as switching and data platforms, perform critical functions for broad sectors of network operations. Damage to such critical elements may cause an entire sector of network coverage to be rendered non-functional and, as a result, the Group may not be able to provide mobile telecommunications services to a substantial proportion of customer base. In the event that the Group is unable to provide mobile telecommunications services to a substantial proportion of its customers for an extended period of time, its business and results of operations will be materially and adversely affected.

Natural Disasters

Some of the Group's assets and projects, and many of the Group's customers and suppliers are located in areas at risk of damage from floods and other major natural disasters and the occurrence of any of these events could disrupt the Group's business and materially and adversely affect the Group's financial condition and results of operations.

Although the Group has not experienced any major structural damage to the Group's facilities, there can be no assurance that those natural disasters will not occur and result in major damage to the Group's facilities, which could adversely affect the Group's financial condition and results of operations.
